"Interior design has and always will be a popular business for creative people. Over the years I have met and taught hundreds of budding and very talented aspiring interior designers. Profitable Interior Design Business Step #2. Maybe you don't need (or even want to make) millions. You just want to make a comfortable living. One that allows you to live this dream life. That means you need to outline your profit plan so you can hit your income goals with the services you offer. Start a newsletter of your own and ask people to subscribe it for free on providing their email addresses. Then send emails to them, highlighting some major features of your interior design services. Many of them will enquire about your company. Some of them may ask for your home decoration services. Interior design has always been, and always will be, a popular business for creative people to get involved in. Over the years I have met and taught hundreds of budding and very creative potential interior designers with a passion to design, but not so much of a passion to run the business side of things.
