The Opel Corsa is a supermini car engineered and produced by the German automobile manufacturer Opel since 1982. It has been sold under a variety of other brands (most notably Vauxhall, Chevrolet, and Holden) and also spawned various derivatives in different markets. Its current fifth generation is built in Spain and in Germany. However, despite its global presence, it has never been sold in ... The Vauxhall Chevette supermini or compact car was manufactured by Vauxhall in the United Kingdom from 1975 to 1984. It was Vauxhall's version of the "T-Car" small car family from Vauxhall's parent General Motors (GM). The family included the Opel Kadett in Germany, the Isuzu Gemini in Japan, the Holden Gemini in Australia, the Chevrolet Chevette in the United States, Canada, Brazil, Colombia ... The Vauxhall Zafira has been mainstay for large families since 1999. With seven seats that can quickly fold up and down to offer space aplenty for anything from buggies to household appliances to an abundance of shopping bags – there can be few cars more practical and cheap to buy, drive and insure. The Vauxhall Grandland X Hybrid4 kick starts Vauxhall's strategy to electrify its range by 2024.
