Handloading or reloading is the process of loading firearm cartridges or shotgun shells by assembling the individual components (case/hull, primer, powder, and bullet/shot), rather than purchasing completely assembled, factory-loaded ammunition. The term handloading is the more general term, as it refers to assembly of ammunition using components from any source. My last PH, who has spent more years in the field in Africa by far than any non-PH on this or any other forum, loads 74 grains of AA2230 behind a 500 grain A Frame and also a 500 Hornady (older) solid and has hunted everything in Africa for many years with this caliber and doesn't see the need for anything else.
